

Hoffman Receives Constitutional Officer of the Year Award

The Constitutional Officer of the Year award is presented to a currently serving constitutional officer for exceptional commitment to the advancement of Wisconsin County Constitutional Officer's (WCCO's) goals and objectives.

Tyson Fettes, Racine County Register of Deeds, was one of many who nominated this person and his description of the person is so true. As he stated in his submission, "this person needs little introduction. Words to sum up the person are hardworking, caring, dedicated, smart, progressive and just an overall great person."

Staci Hoffmann, Jefferson County Register of Deeds, "has never shied away from anything and freely gives of her time and talents to work on just about anything for anyone", quoting Washington County Register of Deeds, Sharon Martin, and I couldn't agree more.

Staci is the appointed represented Register of Deeds that sits on the WCA Board of Directors.

Staci is very passionate about everything she does. She is especially passionate about county constitutional officer's duties and relationships/partnerships. Those partnerships are with county officials, county board members, legislators and her constitutions.

Because of this passion, she worked along with Jill Lau, Door County Clerk, Carey Petersilka, Door County Register of Deeds, Mike Schlaak, Calumet County Treasurer and Lisa Freiberg, Fond du Lac County Clerk on a breakout session for the Wisconsin Counties Association's annual conference in September, 2016. The breakout session, Partnering with your Constitutional Officer, was about "working together" for the good of all involved.

With all that Staci does for Wisconsin County Constitutional Officers it is appropriate that she be awarded this award. It is an honor to recognize Staci Hoffman and present her with the 2017 WCCO Constitutional Officer of the Year award.
